From the President's Desk

Autumn 2025 ANTS President's Message

Hi Nursing & Midwifery Education colleagues,

By now you will all be in the thick of it whatever Nursing & Midwifery education role you have. We'd love to hear your stories and how you manage the challenges of your role.

The ANTS Executive and Conference Planning teams are still busy planning for our 20th National Nurse Educators' Conference (NNEC) which will be held in Sydney, from the 18th to 20th June 2025. To support our conference theme 'Accelerating into the Future: Empower, Innovate, Connect' we have a number of keynote speakers. We have also streamed the conference under 4 main sub-themes:

- o Connection in teaching and learning
- o Empowering learner engagement
- o Collaborative and creative health education projects
- o Transformative Education

Meet our Plenary speakers, we thank them for sharing their expertise and look forward to their presentations:

Mr Bradley Chesham – Bundle of Rays – Queensland Bradley's topic is 'The Great Education Reset - Breaking the Simulation'	Professor Linda Deravin – University of Southern Queensland Linda's topic is 'Are you an ally, an accomplice or are you ambivalent: Tracks to reducing health inequity in higher education'
Professor Tracy Levett-Jones – University of Technology Sydney – New South Wales Tracy's topic is 'Planetary Health: What it is and why it matters (to nurses and nurse educators)'	Adjunct Professor Catherine Hungerford – Central Queensland University – Queensland Catherine's topic is 'Nursing Informatics in Education: Preparing the Next Generation'
Adjunct Professor Angela Ryan – Oracle Health – Victoria Angela's topic is 'Future-Proofing Healthcare: Building a Digitally Skilled Nursing Workforce'

We have also arranged a number of Panel Sessions and look forward to the following colleagues sharing their knowledge with us across the course of the conference.

Digital Health	Empowering Learning Engagement	Academic Partnerships
Adjunct Associate Profession Angela Ryan, Oracle Health Victoria	Ms Julie Melhop – Wide Bay Hospital & Health Service	Adjunct Associate Professor Christine Burridge – Queensland University of Technology / Director of Nursing & Midwifery Education Metro North Health
Mr Bradley Chesham – Bundle of Rays – Queensland	Ms Judith Gonzalez - Sunshine Coast University Hospital	Professor Isabelle Skinner – University of Tasmania
	Dr Dianne Stratton-Maher – University of Southern Queensland	Adjunct Associate Professor Karen Theobald - Queensland University of Technology

In addition, we look forward to hearing from our many colleagues who have been accepted to present their topics or display their posters and wish them all well.

Our 49th Annual General Meeting will be conducted during the conference, please check the program for details. If you would like to nominate for one of the key roles or if you would like to serve on the Executive Committee, please look out for the ANTS group email and submit your application. To the current ANTS Committee members thank you for volunteering your time. We also truly appreciate the amazing support provided to the Society by Stuart Taylor, as our ANTS Administrator. Thank you sincerely for everything you do for us.

Welcome to our new members across the first 4 months of 2025, to all 27 of you, welcome aboard! Feel free to drop us a line to share why you joined or let us know how we can assist you to get the most out of your membership. I hope that you find the Autumn 2025 edition of the ANTS e-Bulletin informative. Thank you to our Editorial team Amanda Petrie & Libin Jose. Congratulations you have made it through your first calendar year. The ANTS Executive would like to re-establish the Peer Reviewed section of the e-Bulletin. So, if you are interested in contributing an article or being a member of the Peer Review Panel, please let us know at: bulletin@ants.org.au. The ANTS e-Bulletin is linked with Scopus (a comprehensive, multidisciplinary, trusted abstract and citation database). Remember that you can also request to preview Elsevier texts as part of our relationship with Elsevier. This involves writing a review which is published in the e-Bulletin and online by Elsevier.

Just a reminder that our Bronze Affiliate membership of the Australian College of Nursing entitle ANTS members to a 5% discount on ACN CPD courses, to find out what's on offer go to: Education – Australian College of Nursing \(acn.edu.au\).

If you are looking for continuing professional development options for yourself or clinical facilitators you may support, you may wish to access the Clinical Facilitation: Essential Skills & Principles Short course offered through the University of Melbourne. For more information click on link 3 of the rotating banner on the ANTS website. Alternatively, the ACN frequently runs webinars that may be of interest.

Upcoming dates of interest:

- NNEC2025: Registrations are now open – Standard registration is now open – go to:
- ANTS History Events - 2025:
  - 50-year acknowledgement – ANTS NSW formation in 1975
  - 30-year acknowledgement of National ANTS organisation formation in 1995 & the development of original ANTS Logo, which we modified last year to include midwifery into the banner
  - 15-years of ANTS e-Bulletin production -Congratulations and thankyou to all those involved

The Executive team look forward to catching up with those members who will be attending NNEC2025 from our National and International nursing education and midwifery community.

From the Editors' Desks

Hello and welcome to the e-Bulletin Autumn edition. As with the previous edition, this is a space where we can introduce, show case and provide our members with an opportunity to Shout Out to highlight their team achievements.

Our conference web site is available and includes updates on all things conference. We will continue to connect with new members and include bio's in our editions. It is always interesting and motivating to hear about colleague's conference experiences. We enjoy connecting with our members and the experiences and themes from nursing and midwifery conferences globally and within Australia. If you are interested in sharing, there are more details in the Conference Connection section and in the "Day in the Life Of". As editors we have taken a look back at the editorial team over the last 15 years. It is so interesting to see how the front page change with the different editorial team. We are always looking for ideas and concepts to include into the Bulletin. As Kathryn has mentioned, if you have themes or ideas for the bulletin please contact us on bulletin@ants.org.au.

We look forward to your feedback and ideas for future editions. Thank you.

E-Bulletin Members Contributions

Shout OUT

Shout OUT!

It is such an enjoy inclusion in our Bulletin to Shout Out to our colleagues across the Nation. Welcome to our 5 new members from New Zealand. It would be great to hear a little about your teams, so please send in a shout out for the next edition. In celebration of all things digital, in this edition we are hosting a Shout Out to Cairns and Hinterland Hospital and Health Services, ieMR Hub and Spoke Team. Thank you to Hilary and Grace for bringing together your Shout Out to us about the work being done by your team.

Regional and Rural transition to Integrated Medical Records (ieMR).

More than 30 regional and rural hospitals across Queensland have taken the digital leap as part of a major 18-month project to transition sites from paper records to the integrated electronic Medical Record (ieMR). The Hub and Spoke project was designed to improve the patient experience by streamlining the process and improve clinical workflows, particularly for patients who require to transfer to other Queensland Health facilities. It is due to be completed in June 2025 and has covered five Hospital and Health Services over an area of more than 300,000 sq km, with more than 3000 staff trained, 5000 devices deployed and around 800 beds converted to ieMR. Four of the hospitals were over 100 years old and two were on islands requiring transportation of devices by barge.

Michell Slater, Director of Nursing, Innisfail Hospital

Queensland Health Chief Clinical Information Officer Dr Rae Donovan said the project was structured in three waves, each targeting a specific group of facilities in regional, rural and remote settings. She said it was designed to address the fragmentation where the health service was reliant on hybrid paper and digital records with larger metropolitan facilities already using ieMR.

Dr Donovan commented that: "The Hub and Spoke project is a critical initiative that enhances the continuity of care for patients across Queensland and reduces the digital divide in regional and rural communities," "By leveraging collaboration, strategic planning, and tailored training programs, the project aims to set a new standard for digital health integration in regional, rural, and remote healthcare facilities."

Dr Donovan said one of the key aspects of the project was the governance framework which clearly articulated roles and responsibilities between the HHS and eHealth Queensland teams.

Atherton Go Live. The ieMR Project Team at Atherton Hospital

“This ensured that all decisions were documented and approved by the relevant governance bodies, including risk and issue management, assurance planning, change management, and project status reporting,” stated Dr Rae Donovan.

The project also involved regular checkpoints to assess the readiness of facilities for go-live, ensuring that all necessary preparations were in place - from infrastructure and system checks through to training and engagement of staff, go-live support and transition to business-as-usual support.

Research - Supporting Educators and Academics

Within our webpage and ebulletin we look to highlight our members research and innovation endeavours. The following is a request by Quratulain Damani seeking support to recruit participants for research. Details are also available on the website.

My name is Quratulain Damani, and I am a PhD Candidate at La Trobe University. I am writing to seek your support in recruiting participants (Australian Nurse Academics) for my research study titled Exploring Collaborative Learning in Undergraduate Nursing Education: A Grounded Theory.

I would greatly appreciate your assistance in sharing the research invitation through any ANTS communication channels available, such as your newsletter or social media platforms (e.g., LinkedIn). Please let me know if this would be possible or if you require any additional information.

The goal of this research is to understand how nurse academics incorporate CL into their teaching, focusing on how they plan, implement, and evaluate these processes. The findings will provide valuable insights to help nursing educators harness the benefits of CL, enhance student engagement, and improve learning outcomes. Furthermore, the study will identify potential barriers in implementing CL and offer recommendations for best practices in nursing education.

How You Can Help

I kindly ask for your support in forwarding the attached research invitation email and flyer to undergraduate nursing academics within your school. This will help ensure that we reach the appropriate participants for this important study.

Thank you for considering my request. I look forward to your support in disseminating this valuable research opportunity to your team.

Ethics Approval and Research Team

I would like to confirm that ethics approval for this research has been granted under ethics reference number HEC24518 from La Trobe University.

The research team consists of the following:

- Principal Investigator: A/Prof Gulzar Malik – La Trobe University
- Co-supervisor: Dr. Sharon Bourke – La Trobe University
- Student Investigator: Quratulain Damani – La Trobe University

Research Candidate Contact Information

- Name: Quratulain Damani
- Position: PhD Research Candidate
- Email: q.damani@latrobe.edu.au

Should you have any questions or require further information, please feel free to reach out.

Best regards, Quratulain Damani

“Day in the Life” Series – Real Stories from the Field

An Invitation to ANTS Members

The upcoming ANTS Bulletin will feature a new series: “Day in the Life – Real Stories from the Field.”

This is your chance to share a behind-the-scenes glimpse into your daily work as a nurse educator—whether you're based in clinical education, academia, simulation, policy, or supporting learners in rural and remote settings.

Through this series, we hope to:

- Showcase the rich diversity of nurse education roles across the country
- Foster peer learning, insight, and reflection
- Shine a light on the lesser-seen spaces where education makes a real impact

Your stories will help demystify the profession for others, highlight unique education environments, and celebrate the contribution of educators shaping the future of nursing.

Interested in contributing or nominating a colleague?

We'd love to hear from you. Reach out to the ANTS Bulletin editorial team to get involved. Email us at Bulletin@Ants.org.au

Let's inspire each other—one day at a time.

Conference connections

We are always interested in hearing about experiences from nursing and midwifery conferences. In this section we invite members to share their experiences from nursing, midwifery and academic education conferences or nursing, midwifery and academic specialty areas. Also, we are happy to include college or education-related conferences into the 'What's Happening' section

There are a number of conferences coming up (see below 'What's happening'). We would like to invite attendees to connect and share your experiences of conferences they have attended. The following conferences have been and gone and we like to hear from you and provide an opportunity to share your experiences. If you would like to contribute, please email the editorial team at bulletin@ants.org .au.

What's Happening - Conferences & Workshops

There are so many inspiring and informative conferences to attend. As Nurse Educators it is important to attend events and conferences that introduce and discuss innovation in contemporary nursing education. However, it is also exciting and motivating to continue to look to our college and speciality conferences. This allows us to continue to bring subject matter expertise to our education platform. We have included the links to the Australian College of Nursing Conference in Cairns. I have included a number of college conference details and am happy to add other events, just send me the details. We would enjoy hearing about these experiences and learning from our members.

ANTS - 20th National Nurse Education Conference NNEC

President's Welcome to NNEC 2025, Sydney

On behalf of the Australian Nurse Teachers' Society (ANTS) and Conference Organising Committee we welcome you to the 20th National Nurse Education Conference to be held at the Sydney Masonic Centre between the 18th - 20th June 2025.

This conference is a hub for educators, researchers, and professionals in clinical and tertiary education to exchange insights and collaborate under the theme "Accelerating to the Future: Empower, Innovate, Connect." As health professionals we have a commitment to life-long learning, and we recognise the importance of keeping abreast with current developments in our field of practice. The conference will allow you to share knowledge and celebrate experiences through invited speakers' presentations, research opportunities, and networking.

- Conference themes include:
  - Connection in teaching and learning
  - Empowering learner engagement
  - Collaborative and creative health education projects
  - Transformative Education

We look forward to your involvement, whether as a delegate, presenter, sponsor or exhibitor, we value your contribution towards what we know will be a successful conference.

See you in Sydney.
