

The Occupational English Test (OET) is currently in the process of looking for medical professionals to help us create materials for the Nursing sub-tests.

The OET

The OET is a language test for qualified health practitioners to gain provisional registration to practise in an English-speaking context, predominantly Australia. It assesses English language proficiency as it is used in medical and health professional settings and is recognized by DIAC.

Creation of Sub-tests

We are currently in need of nursing practitioners to help create sub-tests that reflect current nursing practice and issues. We are able to pay $150 for expert content input (review of 2 writing tasks or 8 role-play prompts). Most of this can be done by email; practitioners do not need to be in Melbourne – we can use Skype or phone.

Writing and Speaking Tasks

The tasks are as follows:

- For Writing, candidates are presented with case notes & instructions, and must write a defined letter.
- For Speaking they perform two short role-plays, which are recorded.
