

NHET-Sim Workshops are coming to: Queanbeyan & Goulburn Hospitals

What is NHET-Sim?

The NHET-Sim Program or the National Health Education and Training in Simulation Program is a nationwide training program in simulation for healthcare professionals.

It is designed for anyone who currently or intends to use simulation as an educational method to support the development of healthcare students and professionals. It is open to all health professions.

Why should professionals register for the NHET-Sim Program?

The Program provides a way for current and future simulation educators and technicians to consolidate or expand their knowledge and skills. Modules have been developed utilising content experts from across Australia. The program provides flexible learning with e-learning and workshops. The Program is provided free of charge.

Date	Module	Description
Online	C1 Core	Simulation-based education: Contemporary issues for the health professions
8 October Queanbeyan 23 October Goulburn	C2 Core	Being a simulation educator
9 October Queanbeyan	S2 Elective	Simulator fundamentals
	S4 Elective	Delivering technology-based simulations
24 October Goulburn	S5 Elective	Simulated patient methodology
	S6 Elective	Patient focused simulations
10 October Queanbeyan	S9 Elective	Debriefing in simulation
	S10 Elective	Developing scenarios

All registrants complete two core modules prior to undertaking two or more elective modules. S9 and S10 participants must have completed two core and two elective modules prior to commencement.

C2 - covers educational theories underpinning simulation.

S2 & S4 - introduces scenario development as participants develop and deliver a scenario.

S5 & S6 - focusing on working with simulated patients, includes selection of simulated patients, orientation and blended simulation modalities;

S9 - examines debriefing practices in detail.

S10 - provides the opportunity to develop a scenario and receive feedback.

How can staff participate in workshops?

- Register for the NHET-Sim Program via the website
- Complete the e-learning core and elective modules
- Book into the workshop via the NHET-Sim website

How can I find out more?

Further information available at: <http://www.nhet-sim.edu.au/> or by contacting the Program team on 03 9905 0221.

Need help to get there?

A number of travel reimbursements are available from the South Coast ICTN to attend this training. Please contact Dianne Clee (Project Officer South Coast ICTN) on 02 4824 1891 or dianne.clee@health.nsw.gov.au for further information.

NHET-Sim

Need help getting there?

The South Coast Interdisciplinary Clinical Training Network is providing a number of travel grants to attend the following NHET-Sim workshops:

NSW

Queanbeyan Hospital 8/9/10 October 2014 (C2, S2 & S4, S9 & S10)
Goulburn Hospital 23/24 October 2014 (C2, S5 & S6)

ACT

November 2014 (venue/dates to be confirmed)

Reimbursement will cover costs associated with travel, accommodation and meals. *Conditions do apply.

*Please contact Dianne Clee on 02 4824 1891 for further information or via email

dianne.clee@health.nsw.gov.au